“ I grew up in the same neighborhood as Frank and Tino! We never called her Fatino, it was always Tino! My favorite memory of Frank is, I did something that really irked Frank once when we were kids! I immediately jumped on my bike and got away from him going back to my house as fast as I could go! All of a sudden Frank was keeping up with me and it shocked me so bad, because I never knew he could run that fast! Anyway I gave up and stopped and we both fell out laughing so hard! I knew never to get him angry again! Rest In Peace my Brother!!

“ To the best father ever, I love you more than words can say. 31 years wasn't enough for me, but we made the best of every great year. Thank you so much for being my rock, my protector, my safe place , and everything a girl could ask for in a dad. I know it's not “goodbye” but more like a “see you later”...May you rest peacefully with our Heavenly Father. I love you daddy...
Your baby girl,

“ I never met Mr. Frank, but I felt as though I knew him through his daughter Tianna. I even claimed him as my dad. This man was the epitome of what a man should be. I know he's resting well knowing what an outstanding job he did with Tianna. He set the bar pretty high. Good job Mr. Frank!!!
