“ Man I remember when me and you use to get up every day and walk to the library (without brushing our teeth, washing our face, or even eating). We use to be there for 3 hours unless finessed another couple of hours. I remember when we use too go to bg over trends. Man the last thing you told me was to call you but when I called you ain't answer. The last time I seen you, you told me to not give up with this school shit because I chose it over the hood and told me you was proud of me. Bro you was like my big brother fr even though we were so close in age man I love you and just know when I make it I got you bro. You know how we use too do always share the wealth your brother.
