“ My last funny memory of Dwight was when his family had their family reunion in North Carolina and he went back home to Georgia thinking that my number was the number to the hotel he was staying at, so he called and I said Hi Dwight, he said Hi Dwight nothing. I want to know why you all keep calling my number, he continue on saying I enjoyed my stay while I was there and I paid my bill, so you all can stop calling me. I couldn't say anything because I was laughing so hard. Dwight was always on the phone fussing at someone about a bill. I am really going to miss him so much.
