“ My loving brother has always been my rock .He had a heart full of love always. He is one of the people in my life that knows me and I could always talk with. He always would say that he was honored to give me away when I got married, but I was honored that he accepted ,he meant the world to me and every moment I would spend with him we would make sure we told each other we loved one another. I am going to miss him so much. I love you brother.
