“ I just now saw that John passed and my heart goes out to the families that knew him best. When I visited his dear Mother off and on through the years, he was always the one to open the door and greet me letting me know he knew who I was which was great but it still makes us sad even though we know our God knows all about it and his dear Mother will miss him being around but time does heal our hearts as we remember the good times as the days go by. Know that I will be continuing to pray for the families now and always. Be encouraged.
