“ I met joey and his sisters on Heston street we all played together as kids growing up just such a friendly person to know my heart is just broken no words just tears even in the midst of this hurtful tragedy the lord still knows best, even when we can't give an answer as to why this would happen to a sweet young man, all in all god is still good because even in tragedies that we face in our lives god definitely know how to turn situations around for our good we will miss always love you LIL joey, it was truly a blessing that my family and I got to know you as a little kid growing up, you will never be forgotten in our hearts!!!
