“ Though I never had the honor of knowing Kei’Mani personally, her story has deeply touched my heart. A young life full of promise, love, and light was taken far too soon. My heart aches for her family, friends, and all who were blessed to know her. May her memory live on through the joy she brought to others, and may we all work toward a world where children are safe, loved, and protected. Rest peacefully, sweet Kei’Mani.

AN

“ There isn't a day go by I don't miss you or wish to talk to you again. Your last wish was to get me away from the family or the way I grew up. You loved me and saw how I was treated and how it affect my mental and emotional health. You wanted me to be in better place, safer one where I could grow and be surrounded by positive people who bring me up and not down. After I lost you I thought I had to be you or take care of the family or keep them together but I realized you never wanted that for me. You wanted me to step away and love my own life and follow my own dreams and stop taking care of others like we both did so much. You loved doing that but I realized I needed to change and love myself again. You accept when I came out and were my protector and I know you felt bad not protecting me enough with all the emotional and mental abuse I got growing up and not being there enough but I want you to know I am getting better, and you did what you could. You loved me for me even when no one else saw me for who I really am or always been. You were my best friend and it was so hard losing you but I carry you in my soul and heart and my mind. You wanted me to fight for myself and be happier well I am. Sorry I had to leave the family completely but it what was best for me. I wish you were treated better while you were alive and people saw how much you did for them. I try to show you how much I loved you and be there for you and I wish I could have make it all better for you but I know you were happy. I am just saw you won't get to see me get marry to my bf I have now who is what you said I would find, the one right for me or us have our own kids and I will always keep your middle name. I write to you in a journal letters since it helps me feel closer to you. I hope you watch over me and are proud. Don't worry I will take care of my health and take my medication like you always told me to. I will be okay. I miss you on my birthday but i know you are always with me in spirit.
P.S. Her best friend you can find me on tiktok- trkwifeyy2025

“ Kei'mani, I hope you know you have touched so many, everywhere. For me, I feel as though I have known you for a lifetime. However long that lifetime was. I just know in my heart that we had moments, unexplained, but in all sincerest somehow, somewhere. Of course, not in this lifetime but you ever just have that moment, where you just know a person? Yet, you just don't know where or how? That's me! I don't know where we met, and I can be sure we probably in this life never met. Actually, there is really No explanation or anything, it's just just A KNOWING. The pain that resides in my HEART, ITS SHATTERED AND beyond measurement. YOU DIDN'T DESERVE ANYTHING YOU HAVE ENDURED. BUT KNOW WE'RE ALL HERE FOR YOU. WE LOVE YOU....AND WE ALWAYS WILL.
