And on behalf of the local Watchtower Society (Brooklyn-based), may the reality of the resurrection sink in your hearts as Jesus made eternal life a reality. May our risen Lord and Saviour, our Jehovah-God, be with you all in the days ahead.

“Mr. "Oliver "Sonny" Williams" Was My First Love

"Sonny" Between our little fights and our giggles

I remember that you were the first lips I touched?

The first hand I held,

The first one I cared for,

The only one I ever loved.

I remember you made me smile when I first saw you?

The first time I did I knew there was something there.

A spark between us that I felt only when I was with you.

I remember that you were the first to put your arms around my waist?

The first to lift me in the air.

You were my Romeo, I was your Juliet.

I remember we weren't allowed to see each other?

But still we made it happen.

We weren't allowed to talk, but still, we managed.

I remember our days at Libbey High School. We would be together and talk all day.

After my Cheerleading Practices, Girl Track Team Practices and School you would always stay, wait for me and walk me home.

I remember when we happened you held me so tight?

We didn't want to let go

I remember when I would look at you and just smile?

You gave thanks to God everyday since he put me in your life.

I remember when it was over?

*We still cared for each other.
You told me you wished the best for me. And I told you the same.*

I remember that you were the first one I ever cried for?

*I remember we had something that nobody had?
Something people looked for, but didn't find.
You were the best I ever had.
You were my first love.*

*If I had three wishes the first one would be,
To see that beautiful smile I love to see.
The second would be to be in your arms just one more time.
The third would be to have you back in my life,
To have you forever baby.
'Till this day you're still in my heart. And I don't regret a thing.*
