“ I was fortunate to meet Tim when he introduced himself at work. He was always smiling, an eternal optimist, an incredible sense of humor, and I'll never forget his wonderful laugh. There was always something so magnetic about him, he lit up every room he entered. He was truly one of those unique people that make every day better. I will miss you endlessly my dear friend❤️

“ I met Tim when he moved from Indianapolis to Findlay. He and I worked in the same group and he became the wise older brother to many of us. He brought in his satellite radio so he could hear good music during the day and was always willing to challenge people's perspectives. He helped me learn it was okay to use my voice and he challenged me to be better.
